SON OF MR. AND MRS. T. L. HICKEY PASSED AWAY

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Hickey have the sympathy of the whole county in their sad bereavement. The death of their only son, Thomas E Hickey, at Biggs, Butte county on Saturday, last, has caused profound sorrow where ever the young man was known. Young Hickey was a most exemplary young man, was popular and a great favorite at South San Francisco where he was born and grew to manhood. He was a graduate of Santa Clara University where he made a record as a student and athlete. He was a baseball pitcher of note having been at one time considered for an engagement by the Chicago Club.

Mr. Hickey was the first to offer his services to his country in the World War. He served as a lieutenant in one of the Eastern camps and was about to cross the ocean for France when the war came to an end.

Thimas E. Hickey was 27 years old and a short time ago married Miss Clotilda Mayhew, a teacher of San Jose.

Young Hickey was instantly killed while he was demonstrating a grave loader. A derrick on the loader came in contact with a high power wire and the entire voltage passed through his body. The unfortunate accident was witnessed by several persons. Hickey was in the employ of Stewart A. Smith & Company of San Francisco and had only recently gone to Butte county to look after the company's interests at that place.

All Soul's church at South San Francisco was crowded on Tuesday with sorrowing relatives and friends of the deceased young man. At the conclusion of the mass Father J. W. Sullivan of Santa Clara University delivered a stirring tribute to the splendid Christian life of the departed. His consoling words to the bereaved and heart-broken parents were pathetic.

Interment took place in Holy Cross cemetery, Colma.

Supervisor Thomas L. Hickey, the father of the young man, is one of the best known men in the county.

A coroner's jury has completely exonerated Mrs. Hallett from all blame.

He reports the following sales made in the past week:

Shortridge from the National Association of Manufacturers through D. M. Edwards, who has been making a fight for this development.

Wingrove Bathon, assigned to make a survey of the water power situation in the west, has reported to American Industries, that in an attempt to speed up federal action. Henry J. Pierce of Seattle, as spokesman for many western interests, has been in Washington conferring on water power matters.

According to Bathon's report, in explaining that it will cost $1,500,000,000 and create for the country values of that amount to develop the 12,000,000 horsepower, or more, for which applications for permit have been filed with the Commission, Mr. Pierce stated to congressional committees that "The labor that would be employed would equal 700,000 or 800,000 men for a number of years; woul dcheapen the cost of many neces sities of life; and would be of direct benefit to every inhabitant of the United States."

Continuing Mr. Pierce said: "The foreign nations—France, Italy, Sweden, and other countries—immediately after the close of the war, turned their attention to the development of their water power. The shortage of coal had given them a tremendous object lesson as to the value of power and the very first thing of a constructive character they did was to begin the utilization of their wasting water power. The foreign countries have very cheap labor, which the United States has not, and the development of their water power is going to give them cheap power. With these two elements of cost upon a very cheap basis foreign countries will be placed in a commanding position in bidding for the markets of the world. If we are going to compete with foreign countries in exports we must at least have cheap power for industrial uses.

"We have in our Western country over 10,000,000 acres of land which cannot be reached by gravity water, and can only be reclaimed by water pumped by the electric power now wasting in our rivers and streams. It would require fully 5,000,000 horse power to operate these pumping plans. An agricultural population of 500,000 could be maintained on these acres and the products would tend to materially reduce the cost of living.

"The electrification of 1,000 miles of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad has shown such economies in transportation costs—something over thirty per cent— that all of the railroads west of the Rocky Mountains, from Mexico to British Columbia—now desire to electrify their lines, but cannot do so until the water power is developed. One-third of the entire carrying capacity of a railroad is required to carry coal for its own consumption.

"There exists in every portion of the United States at the present time an acute power famine. Seventy per cent of the water power resources of the United States are located west of the Rocky Mountains, while eighty per cent of the power used, whether produced from coal, from oil, or from water power, is east of the Mississipp river. Yet the shortage of power is relatively as great upon the Pacific Coast is in the large industrial and thickly populated section of the East and South.

"Naturally the largest potential horse power is in the mountains west —in Washington, 8,647,000; in California, 7,818,000; in Oregon, 6, 613,000; in Idaho, 5,067.000; in Montana 4,331.000; these being those officially compiled by the Forestry Service. But the question of water power development, and the crying need for it, is not solely a Western question. In New York state there are water power resources of 1,698,000 horse power; in West Virginia, 1,051,00; in Pennsylvania 684,000. Texas and Wisconsin each have more than half a million horse power.

"As O. A. Merrill, secretary of the Federal Power Commission recently announced, the projects for which applications for permits have been made, range all the way from a small ten horse power plant for a colony of summer cottages in the Wyoming mountains, to the tremendous project under consideration on the Colorado river in Utah and Arizona which involves the storage of the waters of the upper Colorado and its tributaries in a huge reservoir and the ultimate development of more than 3,000,000 horse power by using those waters through a drop of 2,650 feet.

"So true is it that the necessity for development of the water powers is practically nation wide, that applications for permits to construct have come, so far, from twenty-seven states of the Union, as well as from Alaska and from the District of Columbia. The last total figures compiled at he offices of the Commission represented the estimated figures of horsepower to be developed as 12,259,110, an amount, which would furnish sufficient power for twenty industrial cities the size of Chicago.

"These figures represent forty per cent more than the present water power development of the United States. They represent a third more than the total water power capable of being developed in the entire area of France, and fifty per cent more than the present developed water power of the whole world. This amount is five times greater than the total acted upon by the Government in the preceding twenty years."

TWO BIG ITEMS

Two items that enter into the cost of living are the $5,000,000,000 of Federal taxation and the $6,000,000,000 of railroad transportation we are now paying. That represents an average burden of $550 for every family in the United States. It is too much and must be reduced. The Republican Congress is now engaged in the task of reducing the government tax bill to the lowest possible point consistent with national financial safety. Much of the rail taxes are in the shape of labor inflation, and that unnecessary charge upon the country is going to be reduced in the very near future. Scheme as they may, the railroad brotherhoods cannot resist the inexhorable economic law of supply and demand. It will be but a few months before both forms of taxation will be materially cut, and cost of living will be reduced accordingly.

DEMOCRATIC OVERSTOCK

It is reported that President Harding will soon ask Congress to create a sales board to supervise the liquidation of the tremendous surplus stocks of equipment and supplies the government has on hand as a result of the war. Since the armistice it is understood that about $2,000,000,000 worth of surplus material has been disposed of, but it is estimated that $3,000,000,000 worth remains. The articles range from the smallest of quartermaster supplies to big steamships, and are held by practically all the departments, the War and Navy Departments and the shipping Board leading. Sale of the stuff would not only bring a reduction in price to the consumer, but every taxpayer would benefit through the additional receipts of the Treasury. The President is understood to have discussed the matter with members of his Cabinet, who agree with him that steps should be taken at once to dispose of the surplus.

A PARTISAN JUDGMENT OVERRULED BY COURT

The reversal of the case against Senator Truman H. Newberry in the Supreme Court was a decision generally expected by those who were familiar with the manner in which the proceedings had been conducted. As to the legal question involved in the constitutionality of Federal laws regulating primary elections, there was, of course, much difference of opinion but those who read of the methods pursued in the trial court were in no doubt that the rulings were prejudicial to the interests of the defendant and showed a bias not only unbecoming to a judge but constituting a serious menace to respect for our judicial system unless rebuked by a reversal in the higher tribunal.

The decision of the Supreme Court is, of course, a great relief to Senator Newberry and a cause for gratification among his friends. But these are least of the considerations in connection with the reversal of the case. It is a fundamental principle of free government that no man shall be deprived of his life, liberty or property without due process of law. Whenever that fundamental principle is successfully set aside the very name of justice becomes a delusion and a snare. If due process of law can be set aside because of the prejudices, the personal feeling, the political animosities of any other ulterior influence then it matters little to the individual citizen whether he lives under and absolute despotism in the form of a monarchy or another despotism operating in the name of popular government but according to the methods of Bolshevism.

The people of the United States are interested in the Newberry case not because of Newberry's personality, not because of his partisan affiliations not because of his official position, but because as a citizen he was made the object of a special attack by a dictatorial Federal administration which undertook to control the sovereign citizens of a great state in the choice of a man who should represent them in the highest legislative body in the world. To all appearances the court proceedings were in entire harmony with the policy adopted by the former occupant of the White House.

Fortunately, the American system of jurisprudence provides for appeal to an unprejudiced court where in calmness and deliberation the methods pursued by the trial court can be reviewed in order to determine whether justice has been done. The decision of the Supreme Court declaring the right of a defendant to a fair trial under the process of law is a reassurance to the people of the country that constitutional government still lives and that the people of the country are still secure in the enjoyment of life, liberty and property.

Whether the Federal government shall adopt constitutional amendments giving control over state primaries is another and very minor question.

SAN CARLOS ITEMS

Those from San Carlos who patronized the Ellison-White Chautauqua at Redwood City this season were the McDonalds, the Stuarts, the Cowgills, Mrs. L. A. Hindman, Miss Mary L. Farnham and Mrs. N. T. Smith and her guests, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Smith from Hinsdale, New Hampshire. Mr. Smith is an enthusiastic advocate of the Chautauqua as an educational institution, and has been a Chautauqua guarantor for his home town in old New Hampshire for a goodly number of years.

Joining with the young and little Misses of Palo Alto a number of the little Misses of San Carlos who are members of Madame Emmerick's dancing classes played a delightful and conspicious part at the May Day festival at Palo Alto last Saturday afternoon, much to the delight and pleasure of those who were privileged to witness this pleasing part of the entertainment. The Misses Gladys Haydock and Valle Drake executed the beautiful garden dance in honor of and in the presence of the May Day Queen. Those from San Carlos who joined in the May pole dance were the Misses Essie Lind, Elizabeth Hurlbut, Gladys Haydock, Janet, Eileen and Edith Quinn. One of the most catchy dances in which some of the little Misses of San Carlos had part was the pretty butterfly dance. Dorothy Benson and Marvyn Cowgill along with a number of little Misses of Palo Alto were in the butterfly dance. Madame Emmerick had devoted a great deal of time and effort in training the little tots and young Misses fo her classes at San Carlos and Palo Alto and much credit is due her for the great success of the day's pleasure.

Last week Mrs. Charlotte P. Powers motored to Los Angeles in her new "Dixie" car returning the middle of the week. She was accompanied by Mr. Powers who was returning to his position in Los Angeles after a week's visit in San Carlos.

Ben Zimmerman the contractor has completed and under way six of the ten houses which he has contracted to build for the San Carlos Land Company. Three of which are already sold.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Andrus who have been living in Redwood City for the past two years have moved to San Carlos and are occupying apartments at the Hurlbuts. Mr. and Mrs. Andrus have lived in the Bay section for the past forty years and have found that San Carlos is the most preferable of any of the towns about the Bay as a residential district.

Mr. Chas. A. Jones from Keene, New Hampshire, who has been sojourning in and around Los Angeles since his arrival from the East last February was here for a ten days visit with relatives in San Francisco and at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Mary Hooker Smith of this place.

Mrs. Ruth Quinan Marks, general manager of the Blindcraft Manufacturing plant located in the Blindcraft Building at 1120 Folsom street, San Francisco, gave the 150 employes of the establishment an all day outing in the beautiful sequestered "Hiden Valley" last Saturday. Hiden Valley is located on the Phelps' ranch just back of San Carlos and is an ideal location for a picnic outing for those who have had the misfortune to be deprived of their sight. The pasture land is leased by Asa Hull of this place and the entrance to this delightful spot is kept locked with the sign "No Admittance" to the general public, and it was through the kindness of Mr. Hull that the members of this worthy institution were permitted to enjoy its delightful environment for the day. It required two large sightseeing cars of the Pacific Sightseeing Company of San Francisco to carry the party to and from the City, which was in charge of Mrs. Marks the popular general manager. Through the courtesy of the Sightseeing Company, of which Mr. Jno. A. Boyd of this place is manager, the picnicers were carried at actual cost for the trip. The Blindcraftsment are employed in the manufacture of reed and rattan furniture, brooms, baskets and rugs. After their return to the city Mr. Hull received by parcels post one of the most expensive brooms turned out by this blind institution as a mark of their appreciation for the courtesy extended them and the following letter of thanks: "All the employees of th Blindcraft Building wish to join me in heartily thanking you for your courstesy to us while on your property at San Carlos last Saturday. We all had a very happy day, not one unpleasant incident to mar the whole day of pleasure, and with so many blind this was really wonderful. We are sending you today one of our best brooms as just a little bit of thanks for your kindness. Please remember that we shall look forward to seeing you in our factory any time it may be convenient to you."

Mr. Chas. B. Marvin and Mr. Henry Judson, his business associate, accompanied by their wives and Mr. Marvin's private secretary, Miss Francis Judson, left last Sunday by auto on a business trip to Los Angeles and other points in the southern part of the state. They will go the coast route and return through Bakersfield and Fresno. Thus combining business with pleasure.

Miss Claire Everett Jones one of the co-eds at the University of California came over to spend the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Jones.

After many years of satisfactory service as janitor and custodian of the San Carlos school building, Mr. Jno. V. Clark has tendered his resignation to take effect May 1st. Mr. Clark's duties as street commissioner had become too strenuous for him to continue in the work as janitor. Mr. C. W. Ridgway succeeds Clark as janitor of theschools.

The Crystal is made of pure snow-white enamel, outside and inside; all steel case. Sides are oval shaped, doing away with unsightly corners. It is correctly proportioned throughout and embodies that highly desirable, but seldom attained, thing in furniture called STYLE. Beautifully nickeled handles and hinges set on sturdy casters.

Workmanship

Casing is one piece, double seamed. Heat resisting mineral wool insulation used between the thick walls. Strength and rigidity. Exceptionally strong base, raised off floor by solid maple legs. All fittings are warranted by the manufacturer not to tarnish or wear out.

No Swelling--Shrinking--WARPING --Cracking Doors

MENLO PARK NEWS OF ALL SORTS

Joseph Bisso of Redwood City has leased the Oak Grove Villa for a period of five years. He is to make a specialty of Italian dinners. Mr. Bisso is an experienced hotel man. He promises the people of Menlo Park good service.

The Companions of the Forest gave a farewell party in honor of W. E. Dale in Native Sons' Hall last Tuesday evening. Mr. Dale is to leave about the latter part of the month for his old home in England. He goes to see his father whom he has not seen in many years and to view once more the scenes of his boyhood. Mr. Dale was presented with a neat leather writing case by the Companions, the presentation speech having been made by Miss Murial Harrington. Her remarks were well phrased and to the point. Mr. Dale responded in an appropriate manner. After the routine business Mr. Dale was guest of honor at a banquet.

The clearing sale now going on at the Menlo Shoe Store will close a week from today. Come and take advantage of the bargains offered before the stock is all disposed of, Footowear is being sold at extremely low prices. This accounts for the large sales being made daily.

Mrs. Louise Gage is here from Oakland visiting her friend, Mrs. H. J. Reandeau for the summer months. She ins delighted with Menlo Park and may buy a home here.

William Hatfield, who died at San Francisco on Friday of last week, was well-known here in the eighties. At that time he was the private secretary and confidential agent of the late Robert Johnson, who at one time owned large tracts of land in and about Menlo Park. After his death his wife gave a portion of the holdings to St. Patrick's seminary and to the Mary's Help Hospital. Some years ago Hatfield bought the old brewery property at Portola consisting of several hundred acres. He started to grow flax and after a large expenditure of money the enterprise was declared a failure, but the purchase of the property proved to be the very best kind of an investment. He only paid something like $3000 for the land and a few years ago sold it to C. D. Connelly of Woodside for $75,000. Mr. Hatfield was a shrewd speculator, amassing a fortune in good land deals. His estate is estimated to be worth nearly a half million dollars. He leaves one son, George Hatfield, an attorney of San Francisco.

The O'Keefe block on the corner of the Highway and Oak Grove avenue has undergone many improvements lately. A cement sidewalk has been put in front of the building, a plate glass front constructed and the building has been painted and thoroughly renovated. It is now one of the show buildings in town. It would be pleasing to have other property owners make similar improvements.

The attractive Breeden home at Atherton was sold this week to H. E. McArthur, who is leasing a home at Redwood City. Mr. McArthur is a contractor and builder and a successful speculator of San Francisco. He contemplates improving the property. The sale was made by M. A. McCann, the San Francisco realty broker.

An Apron and Necktie party is to be given under the auspices of the Native Daughters on Saturday evening, May 21 in Native Sons' Hall. Dancing will continue until 3 o'clock This event is going to be one of the big times of the season. Make no other dates for that evening.

Holy Cross Cemetery is sadly showing neglect, grass is growing over the walks and many of the graves Its appearance is anything but inviting. It is a sad state of affairs when people forget their dead, neglect their burial place and fail in their duty to the memory of the dear ones that have passed from this "Vale of Tears" into the shadows. The citizens of Menlo Park and those who have relatives buried in the cemetery are urgently requested to provide some ways and means of cleaning up the resting place of the dead and giving it a respectable appearance. A meeting ought to be called at once and steps taken to raise subscriptions for the employment of men to cut the weeds and clean the walks.

Thomas Lloyd Lennon, who was this week appointed an assistant U. S. Attorney for San Francisco, is a class-mate of Father Hammond, assistant pastor of the Church of the Nativity. Both graduated from St. Mary's College some years ago.

James G. Mason was disappointed in not sailing on the Maui on Wednesday afternoon for Honolulu. On account of the strike of the sail as scheduled. Mr. Mason may have to defer his trip until May 18, when another boat is scheduled to leave for the islands.

Royal Coryell, who was kicked by a horse one day last week, is able to be around again and has resumed his his studies at the high school at Redwood City.
